

Creative Communication

There are a million different ways to say something. We are going to explore different methods and styles to find new hooks and build on old ones you already have.

Rhythm and Rhym

Its amazing how much actual rhythm and percussion can come out of word choice, dynamics and accentuation. We'll dive into all kinds of ways you can add new rhythm techniques, in the melody and how we can use even the grammar of lyric to create sounds that shift up your writing.

Falling in love with Hunger

What are you looking for? Out of this camp, out of songwriting in general. Sometimes during our journey we torture ourselves, push ourselves down, stand in our own way. Let's get honest with ourselves and start visualizing how we are going to get where we want to be.

Making Moments

When you see someone perform, when you hear a great song, when you truly connect with something...It's a moment. We are going to find more of these in our songs as well as get you ready for the evenings performances.
